HON. EUGENE HALE'S ACCEPTANCE.

The Ellsworth American publishes the following letter from Hon. Eugene Hale, accepting his fourth nomination to Congress. It is dated July 10th, and addressed to S. L. Milliken, esq., President of the Republican Convention of the Fifth Maine District:

Dear Sir—Your letter notifying me of my unanimous nomination by the Republican Convention of the Fifth Maine District, holden at Ellsworth on the 23d day of June, as a candidate for the 44th Congress, came to me in Washington, and I take the first opportunity since my return home to notify you of my acceptance, and through you, to render to the Republican party in this district my grateful thanks for this renewed manifestation of its respect and confidence.

The Fifth District has important industries in a large degree dependent on the legislation of Congress. It covers one-half of the seacoast of the State, along which beyond our ship building cities and towns, and from which also set sail our hardy fishermen. Here too are the mouths of our rivers and our harbors, in whose safety and navigability almost our entire population has a near interest, while a little farther out is the chain of lighthouses, giving security to our commerce. The lumbering interests, farther in the interior, and the granite quarries of the mainland and islands, are inseparably connected with the navigation interest, by the fact that their products are welded together in a common concern.

These are things that affect all alike, whatever may be the party lines of the individual. To see that the material interests of such a district do not unjustly suffer in Congress, and yet to bear fairly its mind the needs and wants of other sections of a united country, presenting diverse claims, is the light duty laid upon a Representative. He is best sustained under such double responsibility who has at his back an intelligent and trusting constituency. I believe that in all public life nothing should be so much prized as such a support. It should make its Representative independent in the best sense of the word.

The convention over which you presided, adopted the resolutions of the Augusta State Convention as its expression upon national politics, and I heartily accept them as sound political doctrine. It is a matter for sincere congratulation that, upon the great questions affecting our national currency and the finances of the country, the sentiment of the State of Maine, so far as it can be judged from public expression, is strongly set in favor of a sound currency and an early return to specie payments. I trust and believe that events are tending rapidly to that end, and, thanks to the firmness and patriotism of the President, joined with the wise and temperate action of Congress, that any real danger of a departure from sound principles upon a subject so vitally affecting the nation's honor and prosperity has passed away.

To the first resolution of the State Convention, adopted by the one that has put me in nomination, I subscribe a most earnest assent. It declares that "The Republican party should not be content with its past record, but, reiterating its former declaration of principles, should move forward to meet new issues as they arise."

These words embody our present duty as a party. Splendid as is its record in the war of the rebellion, and upon the great measures of reconstruction at its close, and sacred as are the memories of that mighty conflict which involved the life of the Union, the Republican party should not present these alone as its claim to popular support. It must go farther. It must be equal to the duty of the hour, and with each year of protracted power its responsibility increases, and its self-scrutiny should be all the more searching. Upon this we can afford to go to the record. In the great election of 1872, the country by a vast majority re-elected President Grant and a Republican majority of two-thirds in the lower House of Congress. The Senate has for years been as largely Republican.

The first and long session of the Congress then elected has just closed, and it is worth the while to examine some of its work, for which, whether good or bad, the Republican party will be held responsible.

Its opening found the country prostrated by a momentary panic, which had disturbed business relations, depressed trade, manufactures and commerce, and thereby so shrunken the public revenue that to carry on the government, new taxation was threatened.—To have at such a time imposed new burdens upon an embarrassed people would have been especially offensive, and the Republican majority in Congress set itself to the only alternative, the reduction of the running expenses of the government. The result is now before the people. The expenditures of the last year were reduced nearly ten millions of dollars, and for the current year over twenty-seven millions of dollars. As a result of this the Treasury is again in sound condition—the public debt is being reduced, and not a single new tax has been levied. One of the duties of the hour is economy in the expenditure of the public money. What record could be better upon this point?

Nor has the party been lacking in its efforts towards the reform of abuses. It has investigated alleged malfeasance most thoroughly. When it was urged that the government of the District of Columbia had become reckless and corrupt, the Republican party committed the investigation to able and honest men of both parties, who, after a long examination united in a report which abolished the whole form of the district Government, and the task of framing a new one has been committed to a commission at the head of which is one of our honored Senators, Hon. Lot. M. Morrill. Here was no shrinking from another of the duties of the hour—the reform of abuses.

In a previous Congress, the same party had laid bare the whole subject of the management of great rail road corporations, sustained by subsidies of government lands and monies, and the result has been that in the present Congress, land grants and subsidies have received no recognition.

Moreover, and this is no small matter, the whole array of unfounded claims, smacking of jobbery and fraud, and of enterprises doubtful in their public character, has been by this Congress met fairly in open fight, and everywhere beaten and trampled under foot. I venture the assertion that the "lobby" never left Washington so desperate and hungry as at the close of the last session of Congress.—Herein millions of money have been saved.

Nor are these all the good things done by the present Congress. It put its foot firmly on every disorderly scheme to involve us in a war with Spain, and yet sacrificed no whit of the nation's honor.

It repealed the salary bill, thereby responding to a nearly unanimous public sentiment.

It revises, and consolidated into convenient and [illegible] form all the various statutes of the United States, giving in a single [illegible] has heretofore been searched for [illegible] business man through seven[illegible]

[illegible] set on foot the [illegible]

Maine will especially benefit by this distribution.

Other sound measures might be instanced, but I have perhaps said enough to show that no man should assail the Republican majority in Congress without a careful examination of its real work. That has only to be realized, and I have no fear that it will not be appreciated. It will do us no harm to contrast all this with the manifestations which have attended the temporary reinstatement of our opponents in power in two of the New England States—Connecticut and New Hampshire. If an honest Republican has felt that he had reason to find fault with this party because of certain shortcomings, let him look at these two States under Democratic misrule and see whither he is traveling when he leaves his old organization. If he will come nearer home, let him read the declaration of the aims and purposes of the opposition in this State, found in the platform of the late Democratic Convention at Portland, wherein the dogma of free trade, pure and simple and direct taxation is laid down, which means, if it means anything, that a system of taxation should be adopted that would treble the burdens of our tax payers, admit to our coasting trade the vessels built by our Provincial neighbors, and shut up in silence and decay every shipyard on our coast, which is just beginning to resume some of its old time prosperity.

With entire confidence that in the coming canvass the right way will be clearly seen by the fair minded citizen, and again returning my heartfelt thanks to the people of the Fifth Congressional District, I am, very truly, yours, EUGENE HALE.

FOR GOVERNOR

NELSON DINGLEY, JR.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES TO CONGRESS.

Fifth District—ANSELM E. HALE

THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL ADDRESS.

Moved thereto by what they doubtless regarded as good and sufficient reasons, but which are not so clearly apparent to us, the Union Republican Congressional Committee have issued an address to the people of the United States, of such formidable dimensions as to preclude its appearance except in a very few journals, while only the most courageous of readers would attempt to wade through it. The avowed object is to set forth the past records of the Republican and Democratic parties, and to urge the importance of electing Republicans to Congress, all of which is praiseworthy, but it seems to us that this work could be more appropriately and effectively performed by the Republican press of the country than by the gentlemen who have undertaken it. As for the records of the opposing political organizations, they have been very thoroughly presented and discussed by the press and the people, so that the contrasted points are very familiar, and as to the desirability of electing Republican Congressmen, it is a matter of local representation in which the local constituencies can take care of much more efficiently than any body of general advisers. It is inevitable that the Congressional elections this year should be largely influenced by local sentiment upon questions which have not assumed the character of distinct national issues between the two parties, and, as public opinion is rapidly undergoing a change—or, perhaps, becoming more fully understood—upon some of these points we do not see the expediency of attempting to lay out a general plan of campaign at a time when we are looking to the nominations and elections for a demonstration of popular sentiment. The Republican party as a national organization, is still fighting on the Philadelphia platform which is far adequate and strong enough for all purposes if faithfully adhered to, and the work of framing a new declaration of the party creed will devolve in due time upon the delegates to the next National Convention. We do not think that even a select number of members of Congress can profitably anticipate the duty of that occasion, or that they are authorized to commit the party in advance to a policy for the next Presidential campaign. We expect the discussion of the next twelve months to have a decidedly clearing effect upon the political atmosphere, and the indications are that, before the Convention meets, the Republican intelligence of the East and West will be ready to unite in the declaration of sound doctrines upon financial and other questions of pre-eminent importance. For these and other reasons, we think there was no particular demand for a Congressional Address, but the Committee evidently thought otherwise, and we will briefly call to the document, some of the points of which are presented with great force.

The Address opens with an invitation to inspect the record of achievements of the Republican administration since the party assumed control of national affairs, declaring the purpose to "show that record, not to speak for it." It then proceeds to overhaul the record of the Democratic party, as follows

It is thirteen years since the Republican party was first called to the administration of the National Government. For more than thirty years previously the government had been almost uninterruptedly under Democratic control. Of that control there is hardly a memory left at which the nation should not blush. Seemingly, it was inspired by but one ambition—the bad ambition to make our foreign policy as ignoble as our home policy was shameless. Our intercourse with powers weaker than ourselves was spiritless enough. We bullied Austria out of a Hungarian refugee. We despoiled Mexico of a portion of her territory. We demolished Greytown. We juggled millions from the vaults of Spain as a lure for Cuba, and the bribe was spurned.

An extract is here given from the famous Ostend Manifesto, in which three of our Ministers declared that, if Spain refused to sell Cuba we should be justified in seizing it by force, and the following terse comment is appended

It adds piquancy to that extract to know that two of the ambassadors who, in 1854, could think of no way of saving our "inherited Union" but to wrest Cuba from Spain, were Pierre Soule and John Y. Mason. The third was James Buchanan.

But during all that time, and in spite of all that goes inside there was not a single native-raised citizen who could safely remain his native place, for there was not one whose citizenship was not absolutely denied by the sovereign under whose dominion he was born.

No American, native or naturalized, could send a letter abroad except upon onerous conditions. We had then formed postal conventions with but seven foreign countries.

The lowest rate of postage stipulated in those conventions was ten cents a half or letter weighing not more than one half ounce. The highest rate of postage on the same letter was thirty cents.

We tamely relinquished to Great Britain a portion of our territory in the northeast, at other and a larger portion in the northwest. We described the line agreed upon in the northwest so loosely that Great Britain immediately laid claim to large islands on our side of it. That insulting claim was neither resisted nor admitted. It was compromised by permitting the claimant to hold armed possession of one end of San Juan, the most valuable of those islands, while we squatted on the other end.

And this part of the indictment closes with the following paragraph, which touches the question of Reciprocity:—

And while, by successive concessions, we were constantly adding to the area of the Canadas, we stupidly relinquished to their products free access to our markets, as the equivalent of being allowed to send similar products from the Northwest, through Canadian channels, to such precarious markets as they could find on the other side of the Atlantic.

Such were the achievements of our diplomacy during those years of Democratic supremacy.

Turning to a review of the Home policy of the Democracy, the Address proceeds —

It has been loudly vaunted that those were cheap administrations! Compared with the expenditures of these times they were cheap, very cheap. Compared with their worth to the country they were probably the most prodigious the world ever saw. They cost the people from fifty to seventy-five millions per annum. Those millions multiplied for us the empty pageant we called Government. It was the most worthless pageant that could be conceived.

* * * * * * *

It seemed to be the rule and, if not the rule then, of Government to collect money enough quarterly to pay thrift. It did pay always, and in doing that, as many loan bills enacted in times of profound peace still bear witness. It found not levy a tax except on the imperfectly representing the popular aspirations, and these facts give the assurance of glorious success.

On our first page to-day we publish the letter of Hon. Eugene Hale accepting his fourth nomination for Congress. It presents the pending issues with the clearness which marks all his public utterances and recognizes the duties of the future with a frankness worthy of his record in Congress.

About the weakest effort we have ever seen in any journal laying claim to argumentative ability, is a recent editorial in the N. Y. Evening Post intended to demonstrate the uselessness of the prohibitory laws in Maine. As the Post is much given to statistics it cites the police records of Bangor and Portland to show that arrests are quite frequently made for drunkenness, and triumphantly points to this as a proof that prohibition is a failure. If that brilliant writer will cast a weather eye toward the daily court records of the metropolis he will find vastly stronger evidence that larceny, burglary, incendiarism, murder, etc., are not prevented by penal statutes, and if he is consistent he must equally favor the abolition of prohibitory laws with reference to these and other crimes. The Post has been peculiarly unfortunate in its attempts at dealing with public affairs in this State and its ludicrous blunders in 1872, when its writers predicted a Greeley majority and the defeat of Republican Congressmen in Maine, should have taught discretion. In the article referred to the display of ignorance as to public sentiment in Maine is only less conspicuous than the weakness of its logic. Of the whole, we do not regard the assistance of the Post or Dio Lewis as actually indispensable in the management of our own affairs.

TILTON'S ASSAULT ON BEECHER. The Brooklyn Eagle, of Friday last, has the following editorial comment on the report that Tilton intends to evade the direct issue he has hitherto made with Mr. Beecher, and to make a general attack on his character

"So far as the scandal proper is concerned, there is nothing new specially deserving of comment beyond the two rumors which will be found referred to in another column—namely, that Mr. Beecher has prepared his statement of the case, and that Mr. Tilton resolved to change the character of his promised exhibit. It is now said that Mr. Tilton proposes to show that Mr. Beecher did grievous wrong, not to him. Tilton, but to other men. Should this rumor prove correct, we believe Mr. Tilton will find it immensely to his interest to abandon Brooklyn as a place of residence.

Mr. Beecher's statement, we understand, deals explicitly and in detail with the Tilton case. He denies that he ever either did or proposed an improper act to Mrs. Tilton. So far as the other cases about which Mr. Tilton proposes to speak are concerned, Mr. Beecher repeats his card to the Eagle, making an absolute and unqualified denial. That denial, we doubt not, will prove as satisfactory to all men who honor probity of purpose and honest living as will the explanation of Mr. Tilton's particular grievance.

Walter Gibson, William H. Pierce and G[illegible] H[illegible] Hobart Haws have made a complaint to President Grant against George Bliss, United States District Attorney for this District, and ask for his removal. The complaint is based on the alleged violation of duty on the part of Bliss in preventing the indictment of [illegible] B Tunison for destroying mail matter. Tunison, who was Superintendent of [illegible] in the Post Office at Harlem, is charged with destroying 130 copies of a paper published at Harlem by Gibson. Pierce is a discharged clerk of that station. Haws was a member of the Grand Jury before whom an effort was made to get Tunison indicted.

EXONERATED

Mayor Havemeyer has finally made his report, exculpating the Commissioner of Charities and Correction from the charges made against them. It includes a letter to the Mayor, signed by Howard Patten and William A. Booth, in which they state that they have examined the papers and testimony taken by the Grand Jury, and can see nothing in them to justify the imputations to which the Commissioners have been subjected, nor inconsistent with honesty and faithful service.

CRIME AND ACCIDENT.

The name of the Police Commissioner Henry Smith, is included in the indictment returned by the Grand Jury, yesterday.

Henry Buckner, while returning from a fishing expedition, and just as he joined his wife and children at the cars at Coney Island, last evening, accidentally shot himself, dying in five minutes in the arms of his wife.

Officer Murphy had his left eye put out and his head and body shockingly beaten by four Sixth Ward "roughs" whom he attacked while they were robbing an unknown man. He was rescued with difficulty by a detachment of police sent to his assistance. A great mob of "roughs" assailed them. Two of the ringleaders were arrested.

The Grand Jury of the Court of Sessions yesterday, presented three additional indictments against the ex Police Commissioners Charlick and Gardiner for violation of the election laws last fall. They gave bail in the sum of $1000 each.

NEW YORK STATE.

RAILWAY COLLISION—THE KILLED AND WOUNDED—GROSS CARELESSNESS THE CAUSE.

CANASERAGA, July 18. Trains numbers 8 eastward, and 7, westward, on the Erie Railway, both through express trains, came in collision on a single mile track, a mile east of Canaseraga, this morning, while going from 15 to 20 miles an hour. The westward bound train carried passengers from New York at 7 o'clock last evening. Both engines and the baggage and smoking cars of the west bound train were utterly destroyed. A number of passengers in the westward smoking car were hurt. A large, fine-looking gentleman, named Van Horn, from Philadelphia, has his left arm and leg broken and seems to be injured internally. A couple of other passengers in the same car have their arms broken, and a number suffered severe cuts and bruises. The baggage master of the western train, named Atkins was killed. A brakeman on the same train had his ankle broken. The firemen and engineers escaped with slight cuts and bruises. The engine of the eastward train of the westward train, smashed the front platform and glass in the front end of the forward first class car, which was filled with ladies and children, but all escaped without injury. The baggage car of the eastward train had its end and side bashed in, but the baggage was uninjured. The westward baggage was destroyed and the mails soaked and torn. It is stated that the eastward train had the right of way. The westward train should have waited at the siding east of Canaseraga.

The westward conductor says he had a new engineer this morning and he instructed him at Burns to pull up at the station and wait for the other train, instead of which he plunged ahead. The road curves sharply to the east around a hill and the trains are invisible to each other a hundred yards apart. The crash of the engines was the first warning to the passengers.

THE INJURED.

Van Horn, who was badly injured, is agent of the New York & Erie Railroad. The fireman on the east ward bound train had an ankle broken and was hurt internally. All the passenger coaches of both trains remained on the track except the westward smoking car. Robert Atkinson is the name of the baggage man killed. A fireman, Van Horn, has an arm and a leg broken, E G. Hervey, of Terre Haute, President of the Paris & Decatur Railway, had his collar bone broken; O. W. Barrett, of Chicago, had his left arm contused, W G. Hooper of Hornellsville, had his head cut, J. F. Fitzgibbons, aged 18, had his head cut; George Griswold of Hornellsville, and Thomas Stewart of Buffalo, each had their head cut and severe contusions. The boiler heads of the engines were smashed into pieces. Both boilers remain on their trucks, but are swept clear of their tenders, and all the top and side hampers of the westward baggage car were torn to splinters, and fell on each side of the track.

The forward first class car of the westward train, which was left its trucks, swept everything above the floor of the smoking car, and only stopped at the wreck of the engines, where it remained exactly on the floor of the smoking car, which was nearly intact, while the body, seats and passengers of the smoking car and a portion of the wreck of the baggage car were piled en mass on the western side of the road. The railroad company sent a wagon load of trunks to the wreck for the passengers who had lost theirs, but a large quantity of baggage is ruined.

INDIANS AND INDIAN AFFAIRS

A QUAKER AGENT ASKED TO RESIGN.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, July 18. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Friends of Indians, a resolve was passed that, while there may have been some trying circumstances in the situation of Indian Agent Miles, they condemn his counsel, and kindly request him to resign as Quaker Agent. They have information that the tribes under their charge are generally prospering, and the schools flourishing.

AN ENGAGEMENT

CHICAGO, July 18. A despatch from Fort Steele, Wyoming Territory, says that a bridge gang and section hands, at Greenville station, were attacked yesterday, and driven into Rawlins. Before leaving they succeeded in killing one Indian, and wounding two others. The one killed was stripped by his companions, a stake driven in the ground, and his blanket hung thereon. This was done to mark the place for future revenge. All the depredations committed in this vicinity are by three different bands, but they are united and have gone in the direction of Wind River valley, fully 150 strong. Forty-five citizens, mounted and equipped, have left Rawlins in pursuit of the Indians. They have all breech-loading rifles and plenty of fixed ammunition.

ANOTHER HARD FIGHT

GALVESTON, Texas, July 18. A despatch from Sherman, Texas, states that a despatch from Jackson (no date) says that, on last Friday, twenty-five miles northwest, a band of Indians and a portion of the Wise county Rangers collected. The former being superior in force, caused the Rangers to retire with the loss of one man killed and several wounded. Later in the day, the Indians attacked Loring Ranche, in Lost valley, Jack county, fifteen miles distant, where, after a hard fight, the Indians were driven off, taking several horses, and killing one of Loring's men. A courier was immediately despatched to Fort Richardson for armed assistance, and within an hour and fifteen minutes, fifty cavalrymen of the Tenth Regiment, with three days' rations, were en route, at full speed, for the seat of war. On the arrival of the troops in the valley, not an Indian could be seen, nor a trail found. The troops then moved off, going south toward Keechie valley, and arrived at garrison to day.

LATER—ANOTHER ATTACK.

To-day the Indians in heavy force again attacked a combined force of rangers and after five hours of hard fighting night closed the battle, leaving the Indians holding the field and having the rangers entirely surrounded. This was the situation at eight o clock at night, when Major Jones of the rangers sent in a courier to the post commander for immediate assistance, stating that he had three men killed, five wounded, twelve head of horses killed and fifteen men missing. Loring writes for long range guns, saying that without them the Indians will be able to keep them off with their Winchester rifles. Within an hour after the courier arrived a hundred mounted cavalry were again in the saddle at the top of their speed for the field of action. There is no later news from the fight. The number of Indians is estimated from one hundred to one hundred and fifty.

INDIAN BARBARITIES

ST. LOUIS, July 18. The Republican publishes a despatch from Kansas City giving an extract from a telegram from Caddo Indian Territory, to the Kansas City Times, to the effect that a fight occurred between a company of the Sixth cavalry, under Col. Carpenter, and a large body of Comanches, thirty miles west of Fort Sill. Col. Carpenter was badly wounded and six men were killed. The Indians' loss is unknown. After the fight the Indians came upon the storekeeper and his wife, killing, scalping, skinning and most shockingly mutilating the body of the keeper in the presence of his wife. The woman was carried into captivity. One of the latest accounts of the Indians show that they attacked a party of woodchoppers who, it was feared, have all been killed. The date of the fight is not given.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

GLOUCESTER, July 18. Yesterday afternoon the Rockport Granite Company were making a blast at their quarry, while, at the same time, a carriage containing City Treasurer Corliss, of Gloucester, and three ladies, was passing. A large stone was thrown into the air, and, descending through the top of the carriage, struck Mr. Corliss on the arm, inflicting a slight bruise. His sister, Miss Lucy Corliss, was struck on the side of the head and instantly killed. She graduated at Vassar College last year, receiving the highest [illegible] High School.

The University Boat Race!

Columbia Wins in 16:42!

YALE'S BOAT DISABLED!

DISSATISFACTION WITH THE RACE!

THE UNIVERSITY RACE — THE ATTENDANCE—THE PRELIMINARIES.

SARATOGA, July 18. About fifteen thousand persons assembled at the lake this forenoon to witness the University boat race, set down for 10 A. M. The regular starter and time-keeper were so displeased at the disarrangements of the last two days, that they would not have anything to do with the race to day, and new men were appointed. The lake was as smooth as glass, and, at 9:45, the first gun was fired, at 10:25 the second, and the starting gun was fired at 10:47. All together, Columbia at the half mile taking the lead, then Trinity made a spurt and overhauled Columbia, and at the end of the mile took the lead away from Yale, which had shot ahead, but at that moment failed and fell a little behind. Princeton came up close behind Trinity, while the others were about even with each other. At the mile-and-a-half Columbia came to the front again, with Harvard struggling sharply. The others kept their positions.

THE BOATS GOT OFF HANDSOMELY

AT THE TWO-MILE POINT,

Columbia was still in the advance, with Cornell making a spurt to overtake her, and passing Harvard. At the two-and-a-half-mile point Columbia was still ahead, with Wesleyan, which now showed great vigor, pressing her sharply and steadily.

THE LAST HALF MILE

was then one continued exciting pull between Columbia, Wesleyan, Harvard and Dartmouth and they came in in that order, Columbia ahead about two boat-lengths, and making the distance in sixteen minutes and twenty seconds. It was greeted with tremendous cheering. B. Frank, captain and stroke, fainted, and was seized by the crew and carried away on their shoulders. Before reaching the Lake House, he had recovered entirely.

THE SCENE FOLLOWING THE RACE

was one long to be remembered, and was only marred in its progress by the failure of Yale to participate in the race, beyond the mile point, at which time she was taking the lead, with a good prospect of keeping it.

REJOICINGS OVER THE VICTORY.

NEW YORK, July 18. There is much rejoicing in all parts of the city over the triumph of the Columbia College boys at Saratoga. Flags are flying from the City Hall in their honor. In the pool betting here, the Columbias were hardly mentioned. The crew rowed the English stroke.

THE POST'S ACCOUNT OF THE RACE.

The Post's account of the race at Saratoga is as follows:

At the signal all the boats got off in fine style. Harvard took the lead, with Wesleyan second and Yale third, followed by Columbia, Trinity, Williams, Cornell and Princeton, in the order named. The Harvard boys rowed thirty-one strokes to the minute, and kept it up. The Yale crew rowed about thirty-two strokes to the minute, and Williams was not faster, but Trinity's stroke was very much quicker. In the second mile, Yale, it is unanimously acknowledged, had the lead of all, and Harvards were second. The Harvard boat then ran into the Yale boat, breaking the latter's rudder, and tipping the boat so that the bow broke his oar. Yale at once fell behind. The Harvard crew assert that the collision was Yale's fault, and she took Harvard's water. Capt. Cook denies, and the general testimony supports him. The feeling between the two crews is very bitter. While Harvard and Yale were tangled, Columbia shot ahead. As the boats entered the finish, the scene from the start was very exciting. Columbia led all finely by more than a boat's length, with Harvard second, and Wesleyan (generally mistaken for Yale) third. Within a short distance of the stake-boat, the Wesleyan crew made a splendid spurt, and drew ahead of Harvard, taking the second place. The others came in at different distances behind. The Wesleyan crew claims a foul on Columbia. The general result is unsatisfactory. Comparatively few persons, save the collegians and their friends, were present, and the hotel stand was not half occupied. Yale's failure to come in takes a great part of the interest away, and her friends all claim the race to be fairly hers. Bets are made that the race will be rowed over. All the crews were affected by the prolonged anxiety, and it is feared that some will be ill. All lost a great deal of sleep by their anxiety. Reeves, of Columbia, fainted when the race was over.

THE SECOND PLACE CLAIMED FOR HARVARD.

It is claimed that Harvard came in second instead of third. It appears that Yale fouled with Harvard twice. The first time Harvard was thrown to the rear, but she soon recovered, and was about to pass Yale, when the latter ran into her again, this time, it is said, breaking one of her own oars. Harvard struggled, and, getting loose, shot ahead, when giving up the race. While this took place, occupying but a few seconds, Columbia shot ahead, and, taking the lead, kept it to the end, pulling a strong and effective stroke. The Ward brothers, who were by when Yale fouled, say, but for that, an even race would have been between Columbia and Harvard, with the chances in favor of the latter, though they admit that the Columbia crew acquitted themselves splendidly. They say that Yale stood no chance whatever of winning the race.

THE VICTORS.

The Columbia crew and the victorious colors will arrive in New York on Monday at 3 o'clock P. M. The Columbia and Wesleyan crews marched through the streets, carrying a symbolic crown, and about two hundred Yale men, with Capt. Cook borne on the shoulders of two men at their head, marched through the piazzas of the principal hotels, singing.

BITTER FEELING BETWEEN YALE AND HARVARD.

The feeling between Yale and Harvard is very bitter, and Cook has challenged the winning crew to another race. It is impossible, at this time, to say how the fouls occurred, or who is to blame. Capt. Cook says he was even with the Harvards, when Dana, stroke, intentionally struck Yale's rudder with his oar, and then struck his bow oar, and broke that.

THE PROBABLE DECISION.

At 3 o'clock the judges held a meeting, and it is believed that a second race will be rowed.

THE OFFICIAL DECISION.

SARATOGA, July 18. The following is the official decision of the judges in the race to-day:—Columbia first, Wesleyan second, Harvard third, Williams fourth, Cornell fifth, Dartmouth sixth, Princeton and Trinity doubtful, Yale ninth. On account of the resignation of the time-keeper, communicated to the judges immediately before the departure of the referee's boat for the starting point, no official time has been reported to them.

THE CLAIMS OF A FOUL DISALLOWED.

The following claims of foul, made to the referee, in accordance with rule 14 were decided as follows:—Harvard vs. Yale and Yale vs. Harvard. The claims were disallowed in accordance with rule 14. Yale's claim was not entertained as Yale violated rules 7 and 8, under which the race was rowed. Wesleyan vs. Columbia was not sustained, as the steering of each boat was somewhat wild with no apparent willful attempt to foul. This decision is also in accordance with rule 14.

THE TIME.

No official time was taken, but Commodore Brady recorded the time of Columbia at 16 42, Wesleyan 16 50, Harvard 16:54, Williams 17:08½.

A PROBABLE ERROR.

It is claimed by Dartmouth that they came in fourth, and Mr. Cramer, the engineer, made an affidavit that Dartmouth was fourth. The judges have, no doubt, made an error. Williams also claims the fourth place.

BEECHER AND TILTON.

MORE RUMORS AND GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, July 18. The rumor that Theodore Tilton had arranged to leave for Europe this morning, was groundless. His friends say that the persistent efforts of the friends of Beecher to prejudice the public against Tilton, will only tend to make the statements of the latter more damaging. The Sun says that Tilton [illegible]

[illegible] the spirit. Rev. Dr. Quint of New Bedford fills Beecher's pulpit to morrow.

A HERALD PUBLICATION—STATEMENT OF SAMUEL WILKINSON.

NEW YORK, July 19. The Herald prints a long statement of Samuel Wilkinson, before the Investigating Committee, taking up, first, the letter which Tilton brought to his office, threatening to publish it, unless Henry Ward Beecher did him justice. The trouble between Tilton and Bowen, in reference to the newspaper contracts, is spoken of, and the charges against Mr. Beecher's chastity, which Tilton claimed at the time were made by Bowen, are given, and a general outline of the trouble, which was settled by the tripartite covenant. Wilkinson says: "It was clear to me that what Tilton wanted was money, and that his purpose in coming to me was to raise money." The covenant as originally drawn up is given, and the statement of Wilkinson, as a general whole, is more damaging to Tilton than to the other parties concerned. After Bowen had paid Tilton his back salary, the covenant, as modified, was signed, leaving Tilton free, as Wilkinson says, to still pursue the unfortunate pastor.

CHICAGO.

THE EXPOSITION BUILDING INTACT.

CHICAGO, July 18. An erroneous impression has gained ground that the Exposition building was destroyed or injured by the fire. The building is intact, and the September exhibition will be held in it, as previously intended.

THE PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Yesterday a session of the National Photographic Association was given principally to the discussion of matters of little interest to others than its members. Adjourned sine die. The next meeting will be held in Boston.

THE INCENDIARY ARRESTED.

CHICAGO, July 18. Nathan Isaacson was arrested here charged with firing the building that caused the fire on July 14th. Testimony was taken which goes to show that the prisoner offered a peddler, named Wolfson $100 to set the house on fire, that the peddler had once made an unsuccessful attempt to do so, and then boasted that he would have better success next time. The hearing of the case has been adjourned.

NEW JERSEY.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

TRENTON, July 18. Charles Palmer, a machinist, working in Timothy Field's foundry, was caught in the running belt yesterday and instantly killed. One of his ears was torn out of his head, and his head was shockingly mashed against the beams over the revolving shaft. He was taken from the machinery dead before the engine could be stopped.

BANGOR MARKET.

SATURDAY, July 18

FLOUR. The quotations for the domestic markets during the past week show no very great change in the flour trade, and the principal remarks being "near quiet" or "dull and unchanged." Export markets occasionally quote a decline on some grades of flour, while others are held quite firm, but the general look seems to be toward lower prices.

CORN is worth from 85 to 95 and 96 cents per bushel, according to the condition of sale—measure, or 56 pounds.

MEAL is worth from 88 to 90 cents per bushel—50 pounds.

FINE FEED. Fine middlings $1 90 to $2 00; coarse do, $1 70 to $1.80, and bran $1 50 to $1.75.

OATS. Canada and Western oats are worth from 75 to 78 cents per bushel—30 pound.

GRAHAM FLOUR is worth from $8 00 to about $9 00 per bbl.

OAT MEAL is worth from $8.50 to $9 00 and $10 00 per bbl.

SALT is worth from vessel 35 cents, and from stores it is selling at a range of price from 37 to 38 cents per bushel, and Bangor butter salt ([illegible] pound boxes) $[illegible] per hundred.

LIME is worth this week from $1.10 to $1.15 per cask.

PLASTER is selling at $1 25 per bbl.

CEMENT is worth from $2.10 a $2.15 per cask.

BRICKS are selling from the yards from $6 50 to $7.50 and $8 00 per M., according to quality.

PORK is selling in our market from $22.00 to $24 00 and $25 00 per bbl., according to quality.

BEEF. The best quality of Western packed beef is worth from $18 00 to $19 00 per bbl.

LARD is worth from 12½ to 13 and 14 cents per pound, according to the size and sort of packages—wood or tins.

FISH. Dry cod fish are worth from $5.00 to $6.00 and $6 [illegible] per hundred pounds according to size and quality.

SUGAR. Granulated sugar 10½ to 11 cents, and extra C do. from 10½ to 10¾ cents per pound.

CHEESE. The best quality of Western dairy and factory cheese is selling in our market to-day at 14 cents per pound.

PRODUCE MARKET.

HAY. Loose hay has been brought into market in fair supply during the week, and the demand being only for local use. There has been but little if any change from last week's prices, fair up to the best quality selling from $10 to $12 $14 and occasionally a load at $15 per ton. Pressed hay is still being handled in considerable quantity for Western markets, and is worth in the streets from $13 to $16 and $17 per ton. Some very extra lots may have sold something better by contract, but we should consider the above figures a fair quotation.

STRAW. Loose straw is not on the market in any great quantity and sells from $7 to $9 and $10 per ton according to quality.

OATS are brought into market very sparingly and sell from 70 to 75 cents per bushel—32 pounds.

BEANS are now brought into market only in small lots and are selling as last week's prices—yellow eyes from $2 60 to $3 [illegible] and $3.50, though occasionally a lot of very extra hand-picked ones sell at $3 [illegible] per bushel. Pea beans are worth from $2 60 to $3 [illegible] and $3 25 per bushel.

BUTTER. The warm weather during the past week has been bad for the butter trade as the most that has been brought into market has been very soft and could only be handled with difficulty. We should quote the market from 20 to 25 cents per pound, yet there are occasionally nice lots in good condition which sell at considerable better prices.

EGGS seem to have been growing scarce on the market for the last few days and this morning were selling current at 22 cents per dozen.

POTATOES. Almost invariably at this season of the year, and especially the closing sales, old potatoes change hands at high price, but this season seems to be an exception. The dealers have been abundantly prepared for a "rise" but prices have declined and to-day they are selling in our market at 25 or 30 cents per bushel—60 pounds—and Western markets quote them equally low.

GREEN PEAS are [illegible] from the market [illegible] at about $1 00 per bushel.

STRAWBERRIES. Field strawberries are very scarce in market, the crop this season being a failure. They are selling from 12 to 20 and 25 cents per quart box.

DRIED APPLES are scarce and good quarters would sell readily at 15 cents per pound.

ROUND HOGS are worth from 9 to 9½ cents per pound.

FRESH BEEF is not brought into market in any over-supply, and is selling from the market wagons from 8 to 11, and the best sides at 11 or 11½ cents per pound.

SPRING LAMBS are selling from 11 to 14 and 15 cents per pound.

FRESH SALMON sold from the market wagons this morning from 20 to 25 cents per pound.

SMOKED ALEWIVES. The Penobscot river fish are worth from the stores from $1.10 to $1.15 per hundred.

WOOL. The range of prices on the market for good unwashed wool [illegible] the best quality of washed wool, is from [illegible] cents per pound.

LAMB PELTS are worth from 60 to 75 cents each.

[illegible]

COAL. The best qualities of [illegible] coal are now selling from $[illegible] per ton.

The Maine Democrats are duly notified by the Cincinnati Enquirer that, if they really mean what they say, about [illegible]

—The wooden office over the archway next No. 100 Exchange st. has been torn down to make room for Dr. Seavey's new building, the rear walls of which are up to the second story.

—The ancient theory that a feather bed was a harbor of refuge in a thunder storm bids fair to be exploded, as several persons have been killed this season while lying on beds.

—Frank Miller, of the schooner Nellie Dow, from this city for Fall River, fell down the cabin stairway, Friday, and received such injuries as to necessitate his removal to the hospital.

—Bears still continue troublesome at Lambert Lake, and five fine sheep owned by Mr. Christie were killed by them last week. The citizens are going to organize a general bear hunt, and trouble is bruin.

—The regulation uniforms of the Hersey Light Infantry, Crosby Guards and Belfast City Guards, which are being made by Wheelwright, Clark & Co. of this city, will be finished on Aug. 14th, according to contract.

—Yesterday was "Rose Sunday" at the Universalist church, and the auditorium was beautifully decorated with flowers in honor of the occasion. The Pastor delivered an appropriate address in the afternoon, and baptized seven little children.

—Several children were rendered seriously ill last week by doses of a decoction of belladonna leaves prepared by their parents and administered as a preventive of scarlet fever. People should be careful about giving their children medicine unless advised by physicians.

—The very large circle of relatives and friends who have already been saddened by the announcement of Mrs. Ardelia B., the esteemed wife of Col. A. B. Farnham, Postmaster of this city, will be interested in the notice of the funeral services to-day, in our obituary column.

—Street Commissioner Dudley has had his crew employed on the river road the past week, and the road from the Veazie line to the Rose place has been put in fine order. The approaches to the "red bridge" have been widened and a new and substantial railing put up on each side.

—Capt. Charles Parker (better known to pleasure parties as Capt. Loud) has sold his interest in the pleasure yacht Sport of Bucksport to E. P. Emerson, Esq. The yacht has been refitted, and on Saturday started on an excursion among the islands in the bay, commanded by Capt. Geo. Gott.

—During a thunder storm in Camden, Thursday afternoon, lightning entered the telegraph office, destroyed the instruments and melted the connections. The lightning played the same pranks in the telegraph office in Rockport. A barn in the latter village was struck during the same shower and damaged.

—Our statement Saturday that the Board of Managers of the Home for Aged Women were negotiating for the Dole house is not exactly correct. The Managers have taken no action in the matter. The negotiations are by outside parties, gentlemen who feel a deep interest in the success of the institution that it should have and own a substantial and permanent residence.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION. Benjamin Ricker was arrested in this city Saturday evening on a warrant issued on complaint of Capt. Charles Pierce of East Hampden, charging Ricker with burning his barn Saturday morning. Ricker said he had been at work for a Mr. Chadwick on the Dexter road, and stopped there until Saturday, and the City Marshal on investigation found his story true, and Ricker is therefore cleared of suspicion.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN CLUB. A public meeting of the [illegible] select reading, and the discussion of the question: "Resolved that the sale of ale is productive of as much evil to the temperance cause in this city as the sale of spirituous liquors." Mr. James Patterson, Jr., will open the discussion.

SUDDEN DEATH. Mr. Reuben William died suddenly at his residence in Bucksport of neuralgia of the heart Friday morning. He was a truckman, and on the morning of his death had harnessed his horse and intended to go to work, but feeling unwell went into the house, lay down on the floor, and died in about one hour. He has always been a very well and hardy man until this spring. He was a very faithful man, and his death is much regretted by the business community of the place.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS. The temperance meeting in City Hall Saturday evening was as usual well attended. Mrs. Crossman presided, and speeches were made by Col. James Dunning, Hon. Lewis Barker, Dr. Norcross, Mr. Langley, Mrs. Dunham, Mrs. Work and Mrs. Withers. The meeting at the same place yesterday afternoon was also largely attended, and was addressed by Col. Dunning, Mr. Levi B. Patten, Mrs. Willey and others. Mr. Henry Hill read a temperance poem, and the exercises were interspersed, as at the previous meeting, with familiar hymns sung by the audience.

CHURCH & SON'S TANNERY. Messrs. C. P. Church & Son have lately made a large addition to their tannery at East Bradford, the whole length of which is now 350 feet, and have added 40 additional vats, making the present number of vats 120. With their present facilities they will turn out 50,000 sides of leather per year. They have added new chimneys, boilers and furnaces to their establishment, and instead of burning wood, as formerly, now burn their spent bark. Their bark consumption is twelve cords per day, and they employ twenty hands. Their furnaces are in a fire proof building, composed of stone and brick with an iron roof.

COMFORTABLE TRAVEL. Saturday evening's train on the Maine Central brought to this city an elegant car built for Hon. Wm. D. Bishop, President of the New York, New Haven & Springfield Railroad, in which he is making a pleasure trip "down east" with his family. They were the guests of Speaker Blaine at Augusta Friday night, and came on to this city Saturday on the way to St. John and Halifax. The car in which they travel is finished in fine style, and the interior is fitted up luxuriously. A more comfortable method of travel could not be devised.

FALL OF A METEOR. A gentleman of this city who was driving up from Bucksport Saturday night states that about half-past 11 o'clock, when within some five miles of Bangor, he saw a meteor come down and strike the earth apparently about a quarter of a mile away from the road on the right hand. It had the appearance of a large ball of fire, and exploded with quite a heavy detonation. Our informant felt the shock quite distinctly and thought at first it was lightning, but the sky was clear and he came to the conclusion that it must be a "shooting star." His horse took fright and came near running away with him, so that he had no opportunity for making further investigations.

NEW PATENTS. Letters patent under date of July 16, 1874, have been granted to the following citizens of Maine for the inventions mentioned after their names:—

John E. Warren, Westbrook, Fence.
Joseph D. Leach, Penobscot, Ridge-water Guage.
John Q. Collins, Vassalboro, Hay-loader.
James W. Jedkins, Monmouth, Shutter worker.
John J. Stewart, Sargentville, Pegging-jack.
Albert W. Child, Portland, machine for pressing and squaring sides of harness-loops.
Appleton Gould, Bangor, assignor of one-third his right to Daniel C. Gould machine for cutting and embossing leather.

NARROW ESCAPE. N. C. Stowe, employed in haying by Mr. S. O. Brown of Dover, was loading hay with a one-horse rack on the bank of the river opposite the factory in that town, Friday, when the horse attached, being spirited and nervous, backed the cart on to the brink, and horse, man, cart and load all went over the bluff together. The bank at this point is nearly seventy feet high and almost perpendicular, and, as the team went over it seemed impossible that either man or horse could escape alive, as they "brought-up" at the foot with a tremendous crash that smashed the rack into bits. Strange to say, however, neither man nor horse was injured beyond a few bruises, having fallen so that the load of hay protected them and acted as a cushion to break the fall.

COLBY COMMENCEMENT. The regular exercises of Commencement week at Colby University were opened last evening by a sermon before the Boardman Missionary Society, by Rev. Prof. Heman Lincoln, D. D., of Newton Centre, Mass. This evening the prize declamation of the Junior Class takes place, and the programme for the remainder of the week is as follows:—

Tuesday.—Examinations for entrance at Room No. 9, Champlin Hall, at 8 A. M.; Meeting of the Trustees at Room No. 10, Champlin Hall, at 11 A. M.; Meeting of the Alumni Association at Alumni Hall, at 2 P. M.; Oration before the Literary Societies by Rev. Prof. Wm. C. Wilkinson, D. D., of Rochester, N. Y., at 8 P. M.

Wednesday.—Addresses of the Graduating Class, at the Baptist Church, at 11 A. M.; Commencement Dinner at Memorial Hall, at 1½ P. M.

Concert by the Beethoven Quintette Club of Boston, assisted by Mrs. H. M. Osgood, at the Baptist church, at 8 P. M. The Club will also furnish the music for the Graduating Exercises in the forenoon.

After the Concert there will be a Commencement Ball at the Town Hall. Music by Harlow's orchestra of this city.

A DANGEROUS BATH. Last Monday Mr. Peter Myrall, while engaged in sluicing logs through the upper dam at Vanceboro, was trying to start some logs that had jammed across the mouth of the gate, when the dam started unexpectedly and he was thrown into the water which pours through with the force of a cataract, and for a distance of fifty rods below the dam is one whirling, seething mass of foam ten feet deep. He was swept down under water to the end of the foam, where he came to the surface a moment and attempted to strike out for the shore, but an eddy caught and drew him into a whirlpool formed by a meeting of the currents of water from two of the gates, and he was carried into its vortex and again went to the bottom. The spectators gave him up for lost, when he was seen to shoot out of the water some ten rods further down the river, and again strike out for a point that makes into the river some distance below. This time he was successful and got ashore, but he was completely exhausted, and had he not been a man of great physical power and almost unlimited endurance, must have drowned. Few men could go through a like experience and come out alive.

SAILORS' SPORTS. Saturday afternoon the crew of the schooner Marcus went aboard their vessel, which was lying near the Maine Central depot, and commenced a row at once, all of them having been drinking hard and wound up to the proper fighting pitch. They attacked the captain with a hatchet and drove him below, but he fortunately escaped with no more serious injury than a few hard knocks. The sailors then turned their attention to one of their number who had shipped for $38 a month—$8 less than the others—and pitched into him with such vigor that he made for the shore, followed by his assailants. He ran for dear life, and the man nearest him drew a sheath-knife and was about to strike him with it, when [illegible] Haney, employed at the depot, [illegible] threatened man got out of the way. Mr. Collins, another employe of the railroad company, ran after the man who had the knife, when the latter turned and attacked him. Collins picked up a stone and laid him out, and Haney coming up succeeded in getting away the knife after nearly mashing the sailor's hand with an edging. Another sailor came up to take a hand in the game, but was quietly knocked down, "and the subsequent proceedings interested him no more," and his companions, finding it was getting warm for them, cleared out, but soon returned, promised better fashions, and carried on board the man who received the attentions of the railroad men. They think the Maine Central is too big a corporation to attack.

BANGOR POLICE COURT

BEFORE JUDGE GOODENOW.

Saturday, July 18th, Moses Pottle alias Moses Smith; larceny of some carpenter's tools from W. D. McLaughlin, sent to jail for sixty days.

Wm. Kennedy of Oldtown, drunkenness; fined $5 and costs; paid.

A. H Fifield was arraigned on complaint of Mr. Ingalls, Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty of Animals, for beating a horse, and was fined $7 and costs, paid.

Senator Gordon, of Georgia, who has been quoted as authority in the "third term" discussion, denies that he ever claimed any intimacy with President Grant, or to know anything of his political views or purposes from any conversation with him. He says he has never had any communication with Gen. Grant as to party organizations or programmes, past, present or future.

AN OLD MUG

BY C. J. S.

You laugh as you turn the yellow page
Of that queer old song you sing,
And wonder how folks could ever see
A charm in the simple, homely
Of such an old-fashioned thing

That yellow page was fair to view,
That quaint old type was fresh and new,
That simple strain was sung to delight,
When here we gathered night after night,
And thought the music of our day
An endless joy to sing and play,
In our youth, long, long ago.
A joyous group, we loved to meet,
When hope was high, and life was sweet,
When romance shed its golden light,
That circled in a rainbow bright,
The time's unwrinkled brow.

The lips are mute that sang these words,
The hands are still that struck those chords,
The loving heart is cold.
Broke one the circle, one by one,
Some dear, some worthless ones have gone,
While others stay to find how true
That life has stood and disclosed too,
And all of us are old.

Yet one alone when music thrills
Its power of thought and sound, that fills
The soul, 'Tis not all art!
The old familiar tones we hear
Like rose upon the listening ear,
They vibrate in the heart.

And now you know the reason, dear,
Why I have kept and treasured here
This mug of bygone days
You laugh at the old-fashioned strain
It brings my childhood back again,
And fills my eyes with tears.

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA

New Revised Edition.

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers in every part of the world, and illustrated with several Thousand Engravings and Maps

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the progress of events in the United States, and of literature, science, and art throughout the world, has taken place on every branch of human knowledge, and has been unprecedented in the annals of any country. All these changes and events have been carefully recorded in the present revision of the work, which has been entirely rewritten by the editors and a large number of contributors, and illustrated with several thousand engravings and maps.

The publishers have spared no pains or expense to render this revision equal to the original work in its high character for impartiality, accuracy, and freedom from party bias, and to make it a work of reference in all departments.

The events of the late political struggle have been made the subject of careful and thorough investigation, and those truthful explanations of the causes which led to the late civil war, and of the secret springs of action which were at work during the period of reconstruction, have been given which will be found of permanent value to the historian. The civil history of the United States has been carefully revised, and the military and naval operations described in detail, and illustrated by numerous maps and plans.

The articles on political economy have been entirely rewritten, and the statistics have been brought down to the latest authentic data. The articles on the various industrial pursuits, on mechanics, and on the applications of science to the arts, have been thoroughly revised, and many new ones added. The biographical element, which forms a prominent feature of the work, has been largely increased, and a new feature introduced in the addition of a full bibliography appended to the more important articles, which will be found a valuable guide to students and readers who desire fuller information than can be given in the limits of a general work.

In the department of geography and topography, the changes and additions have been very numerous, and the latest official authorities have been followed. The population, especially, has been thoroughly revised, and the results of the census of 1870 are given in detail.

In the preparation of the work for the press, it has been the constant aim of the publishers to render it, in every respect, worthy of the favor with which the original work was received by the public; and they trust that the present edition will be found to justify the claim that it is, in every sense, a new work, and the most complete and reliable Cyclopædia for popular reference in the English language.

The work is now complete in 16 large 12mo volumes of about 750 pages each, containing 5,000 pages of the American Encyclopædia, upon superfine paper, with numerous illustrations, etc., will be issued at intervals of two months.

Pierce's Rheumatic Cure

A Tried and Sure Cure.

This remedy is the result of the research of one of the proprietors who had been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the well known remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and subsequently thousands of others have been relieved by its assistance, without an exception, have induced him to put it before the public. It was got up without any regard to making it a profitable business, but the numerous and increasing demands for it, as its merits have become known, have induced him to place within the benefit of sufferers the remedy.

It is an infallible remedy, if persistently used, for those painful maladies of the kidneys and bowels, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among these testimonials are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, R. M. Patrick, Esq., Chairman of Standing and Rules Committee of Legislature, Hon. Nathan Dane, Ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, Hon. Geo. F. Talbot, Ex-Senator, and Gen. Alfred E. Ordway, of Galveston, and many others.

To Doctors Carpenter, Beecher, Buckley, Brewer, Stacy, Bordwell and Holden.

GENTLEMEN,—Nothing would please me more than to accept your invitation, but I am just now so positively engaged that I cannot at present spend more time in Albany. If you will specify an evening a week or two hence, I shall and am very gladly reciprocate your politeness and do my best to entertain you upon the very interesting and exceedingly important subjects which you mention.

Very respectfully and truly yours,

T. S. LAMBERT, M. D

Albany, March 25th, 1874.

In accordance with the foregoing correspondence, and also upon the invitation of the Insurance Committee of the Assembly of the Legislature of New York State, the Lecture, therein referred to, will be given on Wednesday evening, April 1st, in the Assembly Chamber.

[From the Albany Argus]

DR. LAMBERT UPON "BIOMETRY."

The crowded state of our columns in yesterday's issue compelled us to defer notice of Dr. Lambert's address before the committee of the Legislature, on Wednesday evening. The house was crowded by an attentive audience including members of the medical fraternity, the bar and the clergy, and other professional men. The scope of the lecture was to present, in some of its leading principles and features, the subject of "Biometry," or the laws of hereditary descent, and the signs and indications of longevity, as a science, positive, practicable, and of very great value in its application in all the varied relations of life. He gave practical illustrations referring to strangers in the audience of the signs and indications of longevity—and stated very clearly and succinctly the laws and principles upon which the science rests. The practical fact noticed by all, of hereditary lead notes, were shown to have relation to the inherent capabilities of living. These conditions can all be measured, and a judgment upon them by one who has become even ordinarily expert may be relied upon—especially in determining the proper premiums to be charged in insuring lives. Before long to the "experience" tables in use by the insurance companies, their disagreement with each other and their inconsistencies as opposed facts were pointed out. It was said that the only safe and just basis was found in following the teachings of Biometry, and rating each risk upon its own characteristics. The safety, as well as the equity, of this was shown in the fact, as an illustration, that in the company with which he is connected (the American Popular), which originated the plan, the death losses have been for the last year only between three and four per thousand persons, while some companies have lost as high as twenty-four, and many over ten per thousand—the varying rates of loss being in themselves a proof of the unreliability of the tables, and of the general average system of insuring all lives of the same age at the same rate. Life insurance, he said, is simply protection of the family in case of the death of its head, and its simple aim a common sense method is found in the payment, year by year, of the natural premium representing the mortality belonging properly to that year,—the "Term Life Increasing Premium,"—at low cost, without surplus, without "dividends," without speculation without deception.

Dr. Lambert was appropriately introduced by Dr. Carpenter, of the Assembly, and was listened to throughout his long address with marked attention.

No other company in the world applies these principles, or gives the advantage of a lower rate of premiums to those possessed of the natural inheritance of long life.

The only questions with them are: sound health and the general average mortality of a given age.

The AMERICAN POPULAR, by its gradation of risks, insures each according to the individual characteristics of the risk,

It has the premium rate accordingly without any special reference to the age.

Its premiums are based therefore upon the actual risk of the individual, charging him only the cost of carrying his risk.

This is JUST, EQUITABLE and SAFE.

Eight years' experience has proved them facts.
